

Fort Velasco – Thunder on the Brazos Dinner Fundraiser
Stahlman Park, Saturday, 10 September 2016 at 6pm

All proceeds go toward the reconstruction of Fort Velasco.

The reconstruction of the fort will have a positive impact on this area as well as surrounding areas. Important historical events that took place in and around the fort from 1831 to 1836 include:

- The Battle of Velasco, June 26, 1832, probably the first battle of the Texas Revolution, was fought at Fort Velasco.
- The acknowledged first shots of the Texas Revolution were fired on September 2, 1835, from the sloop San Felipe at the mouth of the Brazos (Velasco/Quintana).
- President David G. Burnett declared Velasco the temporary capital of the Republic of Texas after the Texians defeated Santa Anna at the Battle of San Jacinto. The official records of the infant republic were housed in Fort Velasco, and Santa Anna was held prisoner in Old Velasco.
- Santa Anna signed both the public and secret Treaties of Velasco in Velasco on May 14, 1836. These treaties gave Texas her independence. In other words, the Texas Revolution began and ended in Surfside Beach (Old Velasco).
